

What You Need to Know About Overdrafts and Overdraft Fees

An overdraft occurs when you do not have enough available funds in your account to cover a transaction, but we pay it anyway. We can cover your overdrafts in two different ways:

1. We have standard overdraft practices (which we call "Courtesy Pay") that come with your account.
2. We offer overdraft protection plans (e.g., a link to savings, money market, or line of credit), which may be less expensive than our standard overdraft practices. To learn more, ask us about these plans.

This notice explains our standard overdraft practices (Courtesy Pay). You will find more information in the Eagle Community Credit Union Truth in Savings Disclosure and Account Agreement.

What are the standard overdraft practices that come on my account?

If you are eligible for Courtesy Pay for your checking account, we may authorize and pay up to a Courtesy Pay limit of $500 the following types of transactions:

- Checks and other transactions made using your checking account
- Bill Payments
- ACH and automatic debit transactions

We do NOT authorize and pay overdrafts for the following types of transactions unless you ask us to:

- Everyday debit card transactions, including point-of-sale (POS) transactions, whether authorized by PIN or signature.

We do NOT authorize and pay overdrafts for the following types of transactions:

- ATM transactions (i.e., cash withdrawals)

We pay overdrafts at our discretion, which means we do not guarantee that we will always authorize and pay any type of transaction. If we do not authorize and pay an overdraft, your transaction will be declined.

What fees will I be charged if Eagle CU pays my overdraft?

Under our standard overdraft practices:

- We will charge you a fee up to $25 each time we pay an overdraft.
- We will limit the number of times overdraft fees will be assessed to five (5) occurrences per month.

What if I want Eagle CU to authorize and pay overdrafts on my everyday debit card transactions?

If you also want us to authorize and pay overdrafts on everyday debit card transactions:
